

Citizens Advice Bureau

The Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) provides free, confidential and impartial advice on a wide range of topics, such as tax, benefits, money management, health, education, consumer affairs, civil rights, family matters and the legal system.

The Stockport branch is located in Fred Perry House, Edward Street, behind the Town Hall.

Stockport CAB has about 80 volunteers and is always interested to hear of more people wishing to volunteer. Training lasts one to one and a half days a week for a year with volunteers gradually taking on a more independent role during that period. The CAB is looking for people willing to commit to a day a week after training.
